AMBITION'S VICTIMS.

RE RUPTURE BETWERN DR. LRONARD AND HIS CHURCH.

Said to be Widening Day by Day-What One of the Officers Has to Say About the Matter-A Direct Violation of the Pledge Dr. Leonard Gave His Church,

Dr. Leonard spoke last night at Youngrtown and this morning is to deliver at the Methodist church of that city one of his half political, half religious discourses, to further advance his cause and boost him along toward the Will o' the Wisp he is so ardently following in the political marshes.

In the meantime there is a rupture which s growing wider each day in the reverend gentleman's own church, and it is assuming such proportions as to warrant the presumption that it will, in a very short time, engulf what may be left of the doctor after election. All is by no means lovely among his own, and should Mr. Leonard return even now and apply his most winning and winsome methods he could not renew the bonds of love which his own "bull-headedness" (to quote one of the church committee) has torn apart. The facts as alleged by prominent officers of his church are in substance that:

1. Dr. Leonard bas maliciously, willfully and cruelly violated his most solemn and sacred duties toward his own congregation. 2. He has been absent from his accustomed place at prayer meeting and in the pulpit without even consulting the committee. 3. While he voluntarily agreed that i be went into the campaign he would not make more than a half dozen speeches, he has, in utter disregard of this pledge, been continuously making stump speeches and public addresses. 4. While he stated that he "would not ste down out of the pulpit to accept any office in the gift of the people," he has deliberately left his pulpit and his directorship of the prayer meeting to advance his personal interests in ruining the Republican party.

5. He has him-elt sacrificed every tie which binds together a pastor and his people, and can never return to his pulpit and meach the true gospel of Christ, and Him crucified, and expect his people to have absolute confidence in his integrity of purpose.

The above is a terrible ar-raignment of a pastor by the chief ones of his own church leaders but such are the facts as detailed to the GLORE-REPUR-Lie by as prominent a member as is connected with the official board of Dr. Leonard's church, and the gentleman stands ready to verify every charge. He further states that the doctor seems to have utterly lost all interest in his church, and is so wholely wrapped up in his political work that the Central church is practically pestories, and the peo-ple have been so abused that the majority care little whether Dr. Leonard returns or Further inquiry among the church members proves that the above expression tairly illustrates the general sentiment of the congregation. One member of the board went still further and said, "We don't want him again. Any other church that does is welcome to him."

It is therefore evident that the Rev. Dr. Leonard, after election, will find his political work done, his church work demoralized and an uncompromising coolness between him-self and those who should be his warmest friends and supporters.

Certain parties in Warren county, whose igency in the matter is well known, and who are engaged in a desperate attempt to elect J. L. Witson as common pleas judge, have instigated the Cincinnati Enquirer to commence a crusade against Judge O'Neall, the republican candidate.

The Enquirer of a recent date contains what purports to be an exposure of the dologs of Judge O'Neall when he was a very young man engaged in a great and what was perhaps a rash business venture at St. Joseph Mo. The point of the accusation is that O'Neall, as a member of the secret society of Red Men, came into the possession of the sum of $70 which had been set spart for the use of a widow, that he failed, on demand, to pay this over to her, and that on examination and trial in his lodge at St. Joseph he was found guilty and expelled. The Enquirer, which contains the statement of this affair, has the tollowing explanation from Judge O'Neall

"On arriving at St. Joseph, Missouri, in 1870, he went into the sewing-machine busi-ness and stuck to it for two or three years. He had with him as partner a man many years his senior, who skinned him alive, and a failure for about $1,000-resided. for about $15,000 resulted. He was at this time a member of a number of secrat societies, one of which was the Independent O der of Red Men. He had $70 from the treasury of this lodge that had been appropriated for the benefit of John G Russell's widow. This money went with the rest in the general wreck. Coming back to Warren county, he settled down to hard work, and from time to time he sent money on to the widow, $15 going in the first installment, and the remainder at different times in small sums, until he had cancelled the obligation.

This may be accepted as a correct statement of the transaction which is now re-vived and worked up for political effect un-der the seasational head-lines of the Eqquirer, and what does it amount to at its

He returned to Warren county without a doilar, and without even decent clothing to cover his body, so complete was his financial ruin. The most that can be said is that the western venture was ill-advised and rash, and that O'Neal should not have allowed himself to become the holder of the little trust tund of the and paying her every cent of her money en title him if not to credit and praise at leas to charity and forbearance?

But the story is not new. It is very old, ome of the parties who have caused it to be gain, had it sensationally set forth in the newspapers as long ago as 1876. Before O'Neall ran for any office in Warren county the story was beraided far and near by the envious hyenas who are still permitted to encumber the earth. The people of Warren county knew the story in all its details long before this boy sought their suffrages; and yet in 1878 they nominated him over John W. Keys for probate judge by a majority of 67 votes; and in 1881, when they had come to know more of him, they again nominated him to the same office over ladder Kenth the latest the same office over ladder Kenth and the same of th for the same office over Judge Keys by the magnificent majority of 1,927 votes; and still again, for a third term, in 1884, they gave him over William C. Thompson a majority of 1.047 votes. This was the answer, three times given, which the republicans of Warren county made to the hungry wolves who paraded the St. Joseph story before their reyes.

The men who dig up this old and almost forgotten affair are foreign to the humanities of the age in which God permits them to live. They judge the hearts of others by their own. They hearts of others by their own. proceed on the assumption that a boy who commits a mistake can never make amends, and that his fellow-citizens will take delight in the exaggerated recital of the errors of his youth.
